

The Gator Pipeline.

A Gainesville-specific plan for winning auto customers from the University of Florida's student wave — six plays we can start running before August move-in.

FOR [AGENCY NAME]

JUNE 2026

We can't get auto customers from car dealerships because new-car buyers already have insurance. But we're sitting four miles from the largest collection of people who don't: every year, tens of thousands of students arrive at UF and Santa Fe College — and they hit forced insurance moments most adults never see. First cars. First leases. Florida vehicle registration. First policies in their own name. Nobody in Gainesville systematically owns those moments. We can.

~61,000

Students enrolled at UF — plus ~14,000 more at Santa Fe College

~75%

Live off campus, where nearly every lease requires renters insurance — our door-opener

~6,000

International students with no U.S. insurance history who need a first policy

2×/yr

Graduation waves (May & December) of grads leaving their parents' policies

THE CORE INSIGHT

A new-car buyer at a dealership already has coverage. A 19-year-old registering a car in Florida to qualify for in-state tuition, signing her first Gainesville lease, or graduating into her first job does not. Students compress more forced-insurance moments into four years than most adults hit in twenty.

CHEAP TO WIN

No ad budget needed — these channels run on legwork, partnerships, and one-page handouts.

COMPOUNDING VALUE

Renters today, auto at graduation, home in five years. We capture customers at the start of the ladder.

PARENTS COME ATTACHED

Parents co-sign and pay. One student policy regularly opens a whole multi-car household.

Six plays, in priority order

1 The Residency Play

Out-of-state students chasing in-state tuition must build Florida ties: FL license, FL vehicle registration — and Florida registration requires Florida insurance. Parents' out-of-state policy often can't follow the car. No one markets to this.

RUN IT

- Build a one-page "Becoming a Florida Resident" checklist — insurance is simply step 3, with our QR code.
- Seed it where students search: off-campus housing offices, the UF subreddit, class GroupMe chats.

2 The Lease-Signing Play

Nearly every off-campus complex requires renters insurance at lease signing. A ~$15/month renters policy is our foot in the door — and the auto bundle pitch is built in.

RUN IT

- Visit leasing offices along Archer Rd, SW 13th & Sorority Row with "covered in 10 minutes" cards for lease packets.
- Give leasing staff same-day proof of coverage — we solve their compliance chase.
- Table at UF's off-campus housing fairs each spring and summer.

3 The Scooter Play

Gainesville runs on scooters. Local dealers sell to students year-round; financed scooters need coverage and parents usually pay. Every scooter policy opens a household full of cars.

RUN IT

- Partner with the main student scooter dealers (e.g., New Scooters 4 Less, Solano Cycle) — same-day proof promise.
- Cross-sell every scooter household: "Want me to run your auto while I'm in here? Bundling helps both."

4 The Parent Play

Parents pay the premiums — and many out-of-state carriers can't properly cover a car garaged and registered in Florida. Gator parent Facebook groups field insurance questions every single week.

RUN IT

- Be visible when parents are in town: move-in weekend and Family Weekend (water station, branded help table).
- Become the helpful local expert in Gator parent groups — answer questions, never spam.
- One-pager: "Your student's car is 300 miles from home. Is it actually covered?"

5 The Graduation Play

Every May and December, thousands of grads take first jobs and leave their parents' policies — a guaranteed first-policy wave, twice a year, forever.

RUN IT

- "Your First Policy 101" one-pager with QR code at career-prep events and senior weeks.
- Collect renewal dates from spring seniors; auto renews every 6 months, so every "no" comes back twice a year.

6 The Ambassador Play

Businesses can't table on Plaza of the Americas — but registered student orgs can. Students trust students, and a sponsorship costs less than one month of ads.

RUN IT

- Sponsor a business fraternity, sales club, or Gator Motorsports in exchange for tabling partnership & referrals.
- Keep any per-referral thank-yous inside Florida's gift rules (see compliance note, p.3).

The Gainesville calendar does the marketing for us

June – July	UF Preview (orientation) — parents are on campus with checkbooks open. Prep materials now; contact leasing offices & scooter dealers before the rush.
August	Move-in week — the single biggest wave of the year: new leases, new scooters, cars newly garaged in Florida. Renters + auto bundles; parent one-pagers everywhere.
Sept – Nov	Game days & Family Weekend — parents return; campus is at full energy. Parent play + ambassador tabling.
December	Fall graduation — first-policy wave #1. Spring lease signings also begin for next year.
January	Spring arrivals & lease renewals — transfer students and a second, smaller move-in. Re-run the August playbook at lower volume.
April – May	Spring graduation — the biggest first-policy wave of all. Capture renewal dates from every senior we talk to.

THE 60-SECOND VERSION — SAY THIS IN THE MEETING

“Every August, twenty-thousand-plus new students arrive in Gainesville, and they hit insurance moments most adults never see — registering a car in Florida for in-state tuition, leases that require renters insurance, first scooters, and graduating into a first policy in their own name. Dealership shoppers already have insurance. These students don't.

I want to run three small experiments before fall move-in: leasing offices, scooter dealers, and a Florida-residency checklist. It costs about $150 and my legwork. I'll bring back renewal dates and quote-ready leads — and we'll know exactly what's working by September.”

What it takes to start

- ✓ ~$150 print budget — residency checklists, parent one-pagers, QR cards.
- ✓ A quote-request link (even a Google Form) behind every QR code.
- ✓ Green light to visit 3 leasing offices and 2 scooter dealers as the agency.
- ✓ 30 minutes with a producer to confirm which of our carriers are competitive for under-25 drivers and scooters.
- ✓ A licensed producer to quote & bind what I tee up — I handle outreach, intake, and follow-up.

HOW WE'LL KNOW IT'S WORKING — FOUR NUMBERS, TRACKED WEEKLY

01

Conversations

Students & parents reached across every play

02

Renewal dates collected

Every "no" becomes a follow-up — auto renews twice a year

03

Quotes run

The number the manager asked for — my reps quoting

04

Policies bound

New auto customers on the agency's book

By the end of September we double down on whichever play wins — and the agency keeps the pipeline long after my internship ends.
